TELEPHONE MEETING.

A meeting of the stockholders of the Bethel and Co's Mills Telephone and Telegraph Co. was held at the office of H. H. Hastings last Saturday afternoon with a large attendance. A circular letter had been sent out by the president, Mr. J. S. Hutchins, to the stockholders, notifying them of the fact that there is an indebtedness against the company, in most cases, some action must necessarily be taken, and asked for a full attendance at the meeting.

An explanation was made of the condition of affairs and it was readily seen and appreciated by the stockholders that something must necessarily be done, not only to meet present liabilities and needs, but future depreciation as well. It was recommended that an annual tax be assessed upon each instrument sufficient to place the company upon a good working basis, and on motion it was voted to assess an annual tax of $4 upon each instrument on the line, said amount to be paid in three equal installments, on July 1st, November 1st and March 1st.

This seems a very wise provision. Heretofore there has been practically no income to meet necessary expenses, and it may be readily seen that it would be impossible to maintain such a phone system upon such a basis, as there are always incidental expenses which have to be met and the meeting of these by assessing a small tax upon each instrument seemed a very reasonable solution of the problem and was voted without opposition.

STRIKE BODY OF RICH SULPHIDE ORE.

Find Made on Property of New England Arizona Company.
50 Shareholders in Rumford Falls.

What promises to be the most important mineral strike made in the Big Hog district, for many months, was brought to light in the new compar-ment shaft on the property of the New England Arizona Mining Company, where, at a depth of 225 feet,
a body of sulphide ore was broken into carrying good values in gold and copper, besides several ounces in silver.

News of the find was dispatched to P. J. Reife of Rumford Falls, one of the directors of the company, and to other shareholders, numbering about 50, and holding shares amounting to $250,000.

Lucas Hallow of Boston, secretary and treasurer of the company, met about forty of the local stockholders
last Thursday evening in a private dining room at Hotel Rumford, where a banquet was served and a business meeting held. A nicely gotten-up prospector of the company's property in Tazewell county, Arizona,
was distributed.

Of the ten members of the board of directors, five are Maine men. The others and directors are: George A.
Hallow, Lewiston, Me., Pres.; Frank
Hallow, Bangor, Me., Vice-Pres.; Lucas Hallow, Boston, Mass., Sec. and Treas.; H. P. Ledy, Bangor, Me.; A. M.
Hallow, Lewiston, Me.; F. J. Reife, Rumford Falls, Me.; W. R. Lambert,
Bangor, Me.; James W. Burns, Bangor,
Me.; Fred M. Bidwell, Bangor, Me.

The ore body was found in a quartzite dyke. The shaft has been driven through the ore body five feet deeper than the level at which the strike was made and shows a gradual increase in the value of the ore, or deposit. The ore body is the entire width of the shaft and its thickness has not yet been determined.

The holdings of the company, consisting of six claims, are located about three and one half miles north of the Metabetsville mine, and about three miles southeast of the Hambleton
mine, to which a good mountain road with an easy down grade leads.

The treasury stock of the company has all been sold and was taken up the market Saturday noon.

LITTLE POCKET PHYSICIAN.

Hyemal is Guaranteed by H. A. Fash-ard To Cure Catarrh.

Thousands who have been cured by Hyemal call the bottle that comes with every outfit the "Little Pocket Physician," as it is so small that it can be carried in the pocket or purse.

There is really no excuse whatever for anyone having catarrh now that Hyemal is so readily obtainable. If you have any doubt about its value,
H. A. Fashard will let you have a complete outfit, with the understanding that unless it cures catarrh, it will not cost you a cent.

The complete Hyemal outfit consists of the "Little Pocket Physician" and a bottle of Hyemal and costs only $1.00, making it the most economical
as well as the only guaranteed treatment for the cure of catarrh. Remember that Hyemal cures catarrh without stomach dosing, applying the medication and healing where the disease grows are present.

Strange Story of a Title Deed.

A remarkable story was told at the Bethel vestry meeting at Winborne Minister, Wednesday, according to the London Tribune.

It was stated that the deceased residing the payment of the £4,000, was to be a churchman to preach a Good Friday sermon at Bethel Chapel House was missing from the parish chest on the same day. This deed was recovered by the nearest church.

A sister of the vestry clerk brought a drum at the vestry for her childhood, the top being marked "Made in Germany." Subsequently the drum was broken and an examination of the instrument showed it to be the original title deed setting forth the conditions surrounding the payment for the Good Friday sermon.

Yellowstone Park.
The reservation known as the Yellowstone National Park, set apart for public use by an act of congress passed in 1872, covers a tract of about 3,500 square miles in north western Wyoming and extends to a small extent the boundaries of Montana on the north and Idaho on the west.

This gives an area of 3,500 square miles, a tract that is nearly the size of the states of Rhode Island and Delaware combined, and nearly half as large as the state of Massachusetts.

STURGIS DEPUTIES IN RUMFORD FALLS?

Belief Is that They Will Appear Here Again Soon.

For the first time since January 1st,
the Sturgis deputies have been called into action and eight of the old deputies have been reappointed in French of Bath, Towne of Waterville, Black-peter of Biddeford, Alford of Jay, Stevens, Hale and Helen of Lewiston and Howard of Auburn.

Fairfield, Skowhegan, Madison and Aspen were visited and quantities of liquor seized, Commissioner Lang in person leading the raid.

The word has gone forth that all parts of Maine where it is believed their services are needed will be visited, even Bangor being included.

Lewiston dealers are shipping their stock of goods out of town and the decent of the Sturgis deputies is expected there any day. This is the first instance since the Sturgis law went into effect that a commissioner has led a raid in person, as at Skowhegan, hence of Commissioner Lang.

Hon. Waldo Pettibone, chairman of the Sturgis commission, is back home in Rumford Falls from Europe and during his absence Hon. Henry Oaks of Auburn has supplanted Commissioner
Hassett on the bench.

There are well founded rumors that there will be a reappearance of the Sturgis deputies in Rumford Falls very soon.

NOT AFRAID FOR HERSELF.

Child's Only Thought Was of Damage
She Might Do Train.

One day last winter a Vermont girl named Rosa Hines, 14 years old and a farmer's daughter, drove her sled to the crest of a hill half a mile long and then took a slide. Just beyond the foot of the hill are railroad tracks, and as her sled got under motion she saw a train coming. She couldn't stop, and she saw that there must be an accident, so she waved her hood and shouted: "Get out of my way! Get out of my way, or you'll be run over!"
The engineer saw the girl waving her hood, even if he didn't hear her words,
and he brought a long train of freight cars to a sudden stop just in time to let her shoot by the engine. This is probably the first time in the history of railroading when a girl on a sled was given the right of way over a train. When she was afterwards asked by her father she always replied: "Oh, I wasn't scared for myself,
I was afraid of bumping the train off
the track."

DIDN'T THINK HELP NEEDED.

Simple If Farmer Had Heard of the Wonders of Science.

H. O. Wells, the novelist, spoke at a lecture last night about the wonders of modern invention. "No thick and fast,"
he said, "these new inventions come,
they grow rather confusing for plain and simple folk. There was an old farmer living in his back one day
when an automobile came springing a look near him and immediately mask.
To the indignation of the car's occupants, the old man paid no heed to them, but roared calmly on his way,

Didn't you see we were sinking?" The said."

ARRESTED ON A WRIT OF DECEIT.

H. E. Hale, Rumford Falls Real Estate Dealer, in Trouble.

H. E. Hale, a Rumford Falls real estate agent was arrested on a writ
by Deputy Sheriff Eben Poor charging him with deceit in a transaction with Elery A. Powers of Rumford Falls, who claims that he was cheated
when he exchanged his Mexico real estate valued at $700 for some lots in Lexington Heights, Mass., claimed to be owned by Rumford Falls people.
He gave bonds in five hundred dollars
to appear at the October term of court in South Paris. Later, a replevin writ was served by the same officer for a pair of horses and a wagon claimed by Robert O. Dill of Dixfield, to have been taken from him on representations of the value of Lexington property on a note purporting to be signed by the same Rumford Falls man.
The term was regarded as worth $500
by Mr. Dill. He was to get property worth a great deal more than that, and on hearing of the possibility that he would never see the heights of Lexington or the bridge of immortal fame he made inquiries and decided that he would like to get back his team.

The law gave him an opportunity through a replevin writ. The civil court affords the chance for Mr.
Powers to get even for getting those Lexington lots in exchange for his Mexico property. Both secured the services of Attorney Matthew Mc-Carthy who will push the cases for the interests of his clients.

Meanwhile, there will be something doing it is said along other real estate lines hereabouts which concern
very many shady transactions.

The writ says that on May 4, 1907,
Powers entrusted the sale of his house and lot to Hale and that the latter with intent to defraud represented to him that a certain man in Rumford Falls held a mortgage on certain real estate in Lexington Heights, Mass., which secured a note for $7,000 on which $250 had been paid and was endorsed on the back of the note.

Powers, upon this representation, accepted an assignment of the mortgage.
A further allegation is that real estate
at Lexington is of little or no value
and this is the crux of the whole matter, together with the charge that the man who signed the mortgage, and note were not interested whatever in the property.

In fact, a feature of the case will be, it is said, the production of proof from the Polanders who signed the papers that they were hired to sign them.

The Powers property has now passed into the hands of an innocent holder and the effort is to recover from Hale who figures in this transaction in the Lexington property.

The note for a thousand dollars and papers in the case are signed by Mikel Kisel of Rumford Falls and the lots are designated as number seven,
eight, nine and ten in Lexington.
Associated with Kisel is Jozal
Waltershausen, a fellow countryman.
Bethel, it is alleged, will be shown to have had no interest in the property other than representing themselves as holders for pay.

A pretty little real estate romance will be disclosed, it is said, concerning these lots within sight of the famous Lexington bridge where the embattled fathers stood and fired the shot that was heard round the world.

It is further said that this is not the first time that these lots have figured in Rumford Falls.

That they exist is true, as Mr.
Powers, wishing to find out how he stood in the transaction with Hale, wrote to the town clerk at Lexington and found that there were some lots there owned by the wife of Mr. Hale and that they were worth about ten dollars apiece.

Then he began to figure out where he came in on the deal whereby he traded over his Mexican house and lot which was worth at least the $700 he paid for it, for the Hale proposition of the lots of the sacredly patriotic soil of old Lexington. He learned first that Mikel Kisel, the reputed signer of the thousand dollar note didn't know that Lexington was on the map of the world. He learned, too, that Wal-tershausen, reputed owner of the lots, knew him of geography than his friend from Poland. Yet both had their names signed to important looking papers which are now in Attorney Mc-Carthy's hands. The frank feature about the case is that the Polanders will say that they got money for signing these important looking papers.

A second chapter where the famous Lexington lot figured was at Dixfield
a few days ago. And Mikel Kisel's ghost there appeared to haunt up the last proposition.

Robert O. Dill owned a fine pair of horses and a wagon which were worth about $500. He says that he said

IF MOTHERS ONLY KNEW

When children are cross, irritable and peevish it does not always mean that they have had worms. It may be that there is something wrong with the child's stomach, and which the mother may not know. Dr. True's Elixir is a powerful and reliable remedy for all such cases. It is a pleasant-tasting liquid, and it is so easy to give that even the most impatient mother can give it to her child. Plan to Break Halter Puller.

STUMBLING HORSES.

Why They Acquire the Habit and How to Cure Them.

Some horses are naturally addicted to stumbling, others acquire the fault, and still others have the stumbling habit thrust upon them, as an exchange. In the first, it is almost incurable, but the second and third causes can be remedied by the rider or driver. If the ground is rough or uneven, horses with a low action are prone to stumble. Other horses which are naturally slipshod, stumble because they do not lift their feet high enough from the ground. Last, horses that are weak in front, or whose fore legs are weak or unsound, have the same fault. Very often causes horses to stumble. This makes necessary always to bear in mind the value of keeping the horses well in hand and sufficiently collected. If the habit is due to weakness it can often be cured by riding or driving the horse over rough ground until he has been broken of the fault. But in all cases the cure rests with the driver or rider. The most sure-footed of horses is bound to stumble at times, but this can be reduced to a minimum by keeping a light rein. A slack rein is often the sole cause for stumbling. If fatigue is the cause, extra care must be taken to keep the horse well up to the bit. No good horseman will ever take chances of his horse stumbling by allowing a slack rein. Stumbling is not only an annoying fault, but it often results in serious injury and many times in the total disability of the animal. While an habitual tendency to stumble often does not admit of a cure, the average case can be prevented by the methods suggested above.

GROWING GOOD BEEF.

It is Possible for the Small Farm to Produce It.

It is possible to produce good beef on small farms, and much of the beef of the future will be thus produced. The demand for beef will never be less than it is at the present time, and the great ranges on which the beef of the past has been produced must grow smaller as the land is brought under irrigation. Great profits are under way for legitimate vast stretches of land that before now have been the feeding grounds of cattle. How much of the ranges are to be eaten up in this way we do not know at this time. It means that the price of the best beef must advance and that those who will largely be raised on small farms and be almost a by-product. To produce the good beef, says Farmers' Review, the farmer will need but make sure that the animal he is raising for beef is a high grade of some one of the beef breeds. Some of the really good beef made now is being produced on the farms in the middle West, where only a few beef animals are kept per farm. The best beef is proving to be a side issue with many of our farmers, but a side issue that yields annually a good profit.

CHIEF HAIKED CAKE.

Into a pint of lukewarm sweet milk put a cup of sugar, a well-beaten egg, a tablespoonful of butter, half a dozen cardamom seeds which have been pounded fine, a little salt, half a yeast cake which has been dissolved in a little warm water, and flour enough to make a moderately stiff batter. Let this rise over night, and in the morning knead it the same as bread, put it in bread pans, let it rise a short time in the pan, and bake in a moderate oven. This will make a deep loaf and should be cut in slices. It is also delicious for sandwiches when spread with some of the fancy cheeses which have been made smooth with milk.

THE PROFIT IN BEEVES.

Proper Handling and Feeding Gives "Good Returns."

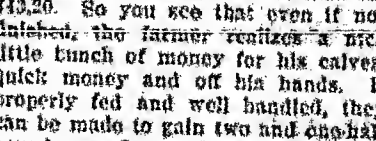

A. A. Arnold, in a talk to Wisconsin farmers, said: "Twenty years ago the 1,500 to 2,000 pound steer brought the highest price in the market and captured the first prizes at the fat stock shows, whereas now the tidy, well-rounded, even-fleshed steer, weighing 1,200 to 1,400 pounds, is the kind that commands first prices, while the 900 to 1,200 pound yearling is a close second. Those that can afford it, want nice, tender, juicy meats, not the hard, fallow kind, the result of long feeding."

Now, if we can get a steer on the market when he is from 12 to 16 months old and will bring $5.50 per hundred when the 1,400 to 1,500 pound steer from 24 to 28 months old brings six cents, the margin in price is so small that the profit on the yearling may be greater than on the two-year-old. In the first place, a farmer that raises his calves must get them on the market when they are yearlings, or what are called long yearlings, else he needs a ranch to carry all his calves. It disposed of as yearlings, he has his cows and the same number of calves, whereas if he keeps them until two years old, he must keep one-third more stock on his farm. The yearling is disposed of and the money is in his pocket to be invested in whatever he likes. The older stock will cost more to roughage, but it costs more to maintain them, as the larger and older the animal the more it costs for the feed of support, and it is self-evident that there is no profit, except that which is utilized by the animal above his food of support. Steers can be put on the market when they are 12 to 16 months old. If of the approved beef type, not finished, that will sell for feeders on present market for $4.50 per hundred. If they have made two pounds per day (a good gain) they will weigh 900 pounds and bring when 16 months old $12.20. So you see that even if not finished, the farmer realizes a nice little lump of money for his calves. Properly fed and well handled, they can be made to gain two and one-half pounds per day, and will weigh 1,200 pounds will sell for $14.40 per hundred, or $12.20. "From experience I have proved that I can make 900-pound steers in 16 months from a calf that will sell for a top notch feeder, with an average grain feed of four pounds per day, thus costing me for grain alone (grain at one cent per pound), $18.00. This steer brings $12.20 and leaves me a balance of $25.20 for milk and roughage. In case he is finished, he weighs 1,200 pounds and brings me $12.00. He has cost me eight pounds of ground feed and oats per day, $25.00, leaving me $34.00 for milk and roughage. This pays better than a gold mine—at least the average gold mine."

HAY RACK FOR SHEEP.

One Which Will Keep Sheep from Rubbing Wool Off Neck.

With a rack made like the one shown in cut the sheep cannot rub the wool off their necks trying to get at the feed, neither will seed, dust and rubbish fall into the wool. They cannot pull hay down and muss it over.

Good Hay Rack for Sheep.

The rack is easily made, and lambs cannot get on top of the hay. Make the frame out of 2x2's, says Farm and Home. For the end pieces and the bottom saw 2x2's diagonally. The rack should be 30 inches high above the cross pieces and two feet wide. There should be a brace frame every four feet. If the sheep are to feed only on one side, make the rack 18 inches high.

RATION FOR SHEEP.

Variety is Desirable for the Best Results.

As to the most desirable kind of feed to be used for a grain ration, variety is the best. We know this from our own experience, as we soon tire of a sameness of diet. It is also true of our farm animals. When a variety is supplied, more food is consumed and the better the digestion. I have found, says a farmer in writing to Farmers' Review, that an equal amount of crushed corn, oats, wheat, bran and oil cake best suits the taste and gives good results as to growth, gain in flesh and fat, as the latter quality is especially demanded in the early market lamb. I would then increase the wheat ration in the lamb ration, would be preferable for a lamb, fat lamb, far preferable to a lamb one of much larger size. That where the lamb is to be carried through the summer for feeding the following winter, then feed a little more wheat and less corn. In that event I would cut out the corn from their ration for best results. But they should be fed the grain ration, as there is no time to waste in the lamb ration, as the grain ration will be given for a long time, as the lamb is to be carried through the summer for feeding the following winter.

TRIM THE HOOF.

Take a chisel and good block of wood and cut off the long growth out of the hoof. After going through the winter without attention the feet are likely to be in bad condition in the spring time and when the colts start running over rough ground he is likely to stumble and break his leg or twist a pastern.

CELTIC TONGUE IS DYING.

Preserved from Extinction Only by Efforts of Patriotic Societies.

Reports from Wales foreshadow the passing of the Celtic tongue which has survived the twentieth century without the entire loss of its ancient birthright. Gaelic is well-nigh gone from the Highlands and in Ireland it is preserved from extinction only by the efforts of patriotic societies. Welsh, who alone could speak it, Welsh has remained the native speech of the considerable community and the Englishified has kept alive traditions of the bardic and chapbook.

But the dry rot is at work. According to the testimony of Welsh clergy men before the Westminster church commission English in fast replacing Welsh as the habitual speech of the children of Cardiff. All through South Wales a similar tendency of the young to abandon the paternal speech is noted. In the parish of the vicar of Trelech, numbering 772 souls, only three aged persons speak the old vernacular. When the children give up a language it is doomed.

The passing of Welsh is merely an episode in a story of linguistic "extermination and dissolution" which is one of the extraordinary things of history. Though the Celts have at all times stamped the impress of a vigorous personality on the world's politics, though they remain one of its prominent peoples, with the extinction of Welsh no living language worthy of the name will exist as a monument to them.

They were the first to leave the old Aryan home to invade Europe; they overran it from Russia to the Irish lakes; they established nations in France, Spain, Italy, Bohemia and Britain; they created great literatures, but when conquered themselves, they have invariably accepted the language of their conquerors as their own.

PUZZLED OVER CAT FIGHT.

Artist Couldn't Locate It Until He Happened to Think.

Every body who is fond of pictures of felines listening to birds sing and of cats sitting in the snow and looking at the moon, and the like, knows the artist of whom I am writing. He is tall and broad of chest, that few, to look at him, would have believed that he could have contracted such a cold. It was one of those colds which reached right down to the intercostal spaces.

He awoke the other night in his studio on the top of Carnegie hall, and he was sure that he heard far out on the roofs below the caterwauling of felines in nocturnal fray. He had not seen a truly detectable cat fight in years, and in a moment he was at the window peering down upon the rooftops for inspiration. He scanned the battleground up and down and there was not a cat in sight. Hardly had he crept back into bed than he heard a loud-drawn-out purr, then a snarl and muffled meows. The conflict had been shifted to beneath his bed.

The Maxwell Touring Car.

Unquestionably the best car ever offered for sale in the town of Bethel.

Some of the reasons why the 3,500 cars built for 1907 are practically all sold.

Because it was built on the firm foundation of experience and common sense. It was proved first and sold afterwards.

Because it is simple: obviating the necessity for expert attendance.

Because it is reliable: with an ability to travel over any kind of road in any kind of weather.

Because it is durable: with the power to resist daily wear and tear.

Because it is accessible: permitting easy inspection and ready adjustments of all primary parts.

Because it is economical: with a lowest possible first cost and smallest possible cost of maintenance.

DIXFIELD.

High School Graduating Exercises.

The Dixfield High School graduating exercises were held at the Universalist church Friday afternoon, June 15th.

The church was decorated with evergreen and potted plants, which added much to the attractiveness for the occasion.

The Latin quartette of Dixfield was in attendance and much enjoyed by all. The exercises were of much interest to the people, and the church was well filled.

Following is the program of the exercises:

Latin Quartette.

Rev. H. M. Daniels.

Prayer.

Selections, The Value of Education.

Religious.

Address of Address, Parents.

George Howell.

Flourish, Thayer.

Quartette.

Prayer, Rev. Frank Francis.

Devotional.

Address of Address, Parents.

H. L. Stetefeld is bound to close out the business of his store and estate during the sale, if few prices will do it.

On account of the illness of Rev. H. M. Daniels, there was no service at the Universalist church, June 16th.

It was a disappointment to many, and especially so to the graduating class of the Dixfield High School, as the Latin quartette was to have been decorated on that date.

By request of the class Mr. Daniels gave a service prepared for them on Sunday, June 17th.

It was a very able discourse and appreciated by the class as well as the people.

CHANCES.

Corn and Wheat Feed.
It is a matter of common rather than of reason that we should use so much wheat and so little corn in our daily ration. Practically all the wheat produced is converted into food for man. It is probable that not one bushel of corn in 50 raised in this country goes upon the table. That is a regrettable anomaly when we consider that two bushels of corn can be produced to every bushel of wheat on a given area and that the national corn crop is four times the national wheat crop.

Cut Flowers.

To preserve cut flowers a small lump of ammonia should be placed in the vase. This will not only keep them fresh, but will also help to destroy the unpleasant odor that so often arises from flowers whose stalks have a tendency to become slimy. Flowers of this description should have a wee bit snipped from their stalks every time the water is changed and also before arranging them for the first time.

Too Gentle.

They were talking about fads. "Suppose I should bring you a Roosevelt bear?" ventured the young man. "Oh, I wouldn't care for a Roosevelt bear," replied the pretty girl. "And why not, my dear?" "Because Roosevelt bears can't hug."

HORSE THAT COULD REASON.

Physician Tells of Animal's Conduct on a Stormy Night.

The best story told in an evening of amusing talk at the Winthrop club meeting this week was that of Dr. Paul about his partner in business for a score of years or more, his horse. When the doctor and he were 20 years younger in practice Dr. Paul received a "hurry" night call from one of the best families in his circle. They lived a mile or more away in a rural neighborhood and although it was late at night and storming the doctor rushed out there at full speed.

On arriving in the yard at the house he threw the blanket hastily upon or, rather, at the horse (who never ceases bickering), for it was found afterward lying on the ground at his side, and dashed into the house with his case of instruments. It turned out that the aged grandmother of the family had had a fall, that her shoulder was dislocated, that other had to be administered the pain was so great—in short, the doctor could not take his hand off his work for three hours. All this time a driving sleet storm, the moisture freezing as it fell and giving everything a coat of ice was beating upon his partner out in the yard.

When the doctor finally emerged in the small hours it was to find the horse where he had left him, except that the rig was headed round for home. A daylight examination revealed the truth through the marks of the hoofs and wheels of the buggy that during his long wait of three hours in a petting and freezing storm, the horse had gone home and had gone down the road sometimes a quarter, sometimes half of the way, and then had thought this hard on the doctor and had turned back to wait as in duty bound.

If this is not a demonstration not only of reasoning power but also of moral consciousness, what is it? It is needless to say that the doctor respects his subhuman partner and would no more think of putting him in the mill than of doing them part than he would with any member of his family. His back is bowed with the weight of 27 years; he is no longer the handsome trotter he once was, but he is the doctor's "Indus Achates," just the same, and he will not be supplanted, in spite of the public's smiles.—Boston Transcript.

RAZORS THAT COST MUCH.

Some Gold Handled That Sell for $50—Handles of Silver and of Ivory.

If a man were content to shave himself with a razor having a hard rubber handle, as indeed most men are, he could buy one with a blade of very excellent quality for a dollar; but there are razors far more expensive than this.

Thus, there are sold razors with handles of 18 karat gold, and of plain smooth finish, that bring $50 each—a pair of such razors in a plain silver box can be bought for a hundred dollars.

But $50 is not the limit of what one may pay for a gold handled razor. If the handles were elaborately chased, its cost might mount up to twice that, or $200 for a pair.

There are also sold, among those more expensive, silver handled razors, which range in price from $50 to $300 each; $50 being the price for one with a plain silver handle, while those with costly handle of silver or carved ivory are sold at much higher prices.

A man who did not altogether like a hard rubber handled razor might find his fancy suited with one having a handle of ivory, and an ivory handled razor need not necessarily be expensive; a razor with a plain ivory handle can be bought for two dollars. Of course any carving would add to the cost.

Costly razors are usually sold for gifts.

All Cutting Sawing.

Knives, no matter how carefully sharpened, are little used; the grinding away of the steel, done by the stone, is not an even work, but when the edge gets thin it is a process of tearing away tiny bits of steel by the grit of the stone. This tearing makes the teeth. A fine stone makes fine teeth; a coarse stone makes coarse teeth. A carving knife, used on meat, is sharpened on a coarse stone or a steel, and has coarse teeth, although its edge is thick. Its action in parting the meat is more that of a saw than a fine wedge. No matter how soft it may be, it will not cut easily unless it is drawn over the meat and not simply pressed down.

A razor, however, with its paperlike edge, will cut into flesh with a simple pressure—it is a wedge dividing the fibers of flesh just as a wedge of iron divides the fibers of the log it splits. But a razor is a saw, too, only as it is ground on the finest stones and later polished with a leather strap, the teeth are very fine indeed—hundreds and hundreds to the inch of blade.—St. Nicholas.

Willing to Try.

"Remember," said the lawyer, "you have undertaken to tell nothing but the truth." "I'll do my best," answered the expert witness, "but I won't know how far I have succeeded until I'm through with the cross-examination."

A Good Reason.

"Do you believe old Miltus' young wife is really grieved over his death?" "I know she is. She is awfully unbecomingly so."

BETTER THAN THE CLOSET.

Good Method of Keeping Miscellaneous Useful Articles.

The kitchen closet, more than any other in the house, especially if it be as roomy as kitchen closets should be, becomes a sort of dumping ground for many articles not properly having a definite place anywhere set apart for them, and yet seemingly too good to be cast aside. In this class we find the pasteboard box, from which the caterer's goods were removed, which is perfectly free from any spot of grease and is just the ideal size for a picnic lunch box. Then there are the tin cracker boxes of various sizes and shapes, which are so handy for holding dried herbs, for taking a salad preparation to a church supper, for similar purposes. The tin are the bottles of different sizes from which mustard, pickles, and other articles have been taken, and the cork of which was spoiled in opening. A person gets laughed at for keeping such a collection, but it is the neighbor who throws out her own boxes and bottles, and smiles at the collection of her neighbor who most frequently puts in the place for some article from the rather composite aggregation. An excellent way to keep these articles, and yet not have them litter the pantry shelves, if there is any available storeroom in the attic or basement, is to get several large wooden boxes from the grocer and put each class of good in a box by itself. The covers should be put on closely so that when a box or bottle is wanted for immediate use it will not require washing or dusting. Such a collection is of almost untold value for the comfort of the different members of the household.

SUBSTITUTE FOR HOT IRON.

Ordinary Glass or Mirror May Be Pressed Into Service.

It may not always be convenient to have a hot iron at hand to press a small piece just at the moment one needs it, but the difficulty may be readily remedied if the material is a wash goods. If thoroughly wet, not dampened, and spread out on a wide pane, mirror or marble slab it will be dry in a few moments, and will not only be as smooth as if ironed, but the under side will have an actual gloss. The material should be thoroughly wet, even dripping, and should be smoothed the way of the grain, both up and down, and across, with a clean piece of old white muslin. If the sun be very hot one cannot use a window pane, as the water dries out before one has time to make the bit "slick." It will often be found convenient to dry a washed-out handkerchief on one's mirror, and if carefully folded and placed under a book it will look as well as if ironed. In fact, many women who travel carry always in their trunk a pane of glass upon which to dry a handkerchief now and again.

Building a Fire.

It sounds unreasonable to say that some persons do not know how to build a coal fire, and yet there are a great many who cannot do so. Invariably the fire dies down and eventually goes out. It is caused by improper draft in the stove. The wood is thrown in lengthwise, coal thrown in with a little oil, and when the match is applied the fire burns only until the oil has burned off the wood and coal. First place in a few sticks of wood, not enough to cover the bottom of the grate, break small pieces and lay crosswise, then put on the oil, if you use kerosene, and there will be no difficulty in making the fire burn.

Another way to place the kindling in funnel shape.

This is especially good in furnaces, since the funnel shape is applied to the grate. The wood is thrown in lengthwise, coal thrown in with a little oil, and when the match is applied the fire burns only until the oil has burned off the wood and coal. First place in a few sticks of wood, not enough to cover the bottom of the grate, break small pieces and lay crosswise, then put on the oil, if you use kerosene, and there will be no difficulty in making the fire burn.

Soak To Wash Silk Underwear.

Soak 20 minutes in warm water and ammonia water, allowing one tablespoonful of ammonia to a gallon of water. Rub gently with the hands, squeezing, pressing, but never scrubbing, and do not be too lavish in the use of soap. Never rub soap directly on a garment, but use the soap in solution.

Rinse through two clear waters of the same temperature as the first, adding to the last water a first of the ultra marine blue and a teaspoonful of liquid gum arabic. Smooth out and hang as carefully as possible so as to avoid the wrinkles so hard to iron out of silk without injury to the fabric. When nearly dry press under muslin.

Washing Flannels.

Flannels that have become badly yellowed through neglect may be whitened in this way. Boil four table-spoonsful of flour in four quarts of water, stirring free from lumps. Pour one-half this mixture over the flannels, cover and let them stand a half hour. Rub with the hands, but use no soap. Rinse the flannels in clear water of the same temperature, then heat the remainder of the liquid and pour over the flannels again. Proceed as before, rinse thoroughly, then hang out to drain and dry. Never hang flannels in cold or frosty air, as that always shrinks them.

Ginger Ice Cream.

Three cups this cream, one cup sugar, one-fourth pound Caster sugar, one-fourth cup ginger snap, three table-spoons sherry. Cut the ginger in small pieces and mix with the other ingredients. Freeze, using one part rock salt to three parts body crushed ice.
